Solutions Used

IRIS Remote Payroll Entry

IRIS Payroll for Accountants

Full IRIS Accountancy Suite

IRIS Remote Payroll Entry is a revolutionary new way for accountants and payroll bureaus to collect payroll data from their clients. The software works with IRIS Payroll for Accountants to put the emphasis on data submission back onto your clients, meaning you spend less time chasing spreadsheets, and more time running your practice. We spoke with Dominic Pascal, Company Director at Pascal Canelle & Co to see what he makes of IRIS Remote Payroll Entry and how it's helping his business operate.

Getting Started With IRIS Remote Payroll Entry

Pascal Canelle were part of the IRIS Remote Payroll Entry beta program, choosing to see how the software could help them with their challenges and also helping to mould the live version available today. "We first saw IRIS Remote Payroll Entry at IRIS World, and we knew then that it could help our processes, particularly with some of our clients with employees working variable hours, we knew it would help."

Key Points

Trust

Pascal Canelle have been with IRIS for over a decade, building up a great deal of trust in the software solutions.

Compliance

Dominic told us that IRIS were always on top of things when it comes to new legislation, meaning he doesn't have to worry about software and compliance concerns.

Save Time, Save Hassle

Pascal Canelle save one hour per client when running payroll thanks to IRIS Remote Payroll Entry and also no longer have to worry about incorrect data.

Recommendations

The firm would recommend both IRIS and IRIS Remote Payroll Entry due to legislative compliance, our regular events, and time saving benefits from the software.

“Since we’ve been using IRIS Remote Payroll Entry we’ve noticed it’s a great timesaver. We’re eradicating any user entry in our end and any errors at the clients end. It’s quick and easy to send over the timesheets when they come back. I’d definitely say the two biggest benefits we’ve noticed so far are time saving and accuracy.

“Often, clients paying employees working variable hours would send over new data or make requests right at the very last minute. With IRIS Remote Payroll Entry, we know that once they submit their data, that’s them saying it’s complete.”

How IRIS Remote Payroll Entry Helps Pascal Canelle’s Main Challenge

Dominic told us that his main challenge from a payroll perspective was receiving the correct information from clients on time and then having to check through this new data to confirm changes. “With IRIS Remote Payroll Entry, we’re now not going through each employee and entering their hours worked each payroll run. The client’s we’re using the software for have employees on variable hours which means IRIS Remote Payroll Entry proves to be a great help when entering the data. All of this data comes across already filled-in from the client and all we need to do is a few checks so we know the data entered is the same as what’s coming in. We’re using the software for three clients at present and it’s definitely helping our payroll data collection run more efficiently, without a doubt.”

Saving Time and Effort

The main objective of IRIS Remote Payroll Entry is to save accountants and bureaus time and effort when running payroll for clients. We asked Dominic if he has noticed a time saving benefit since he’s been using the software, he told us “the software saves us up to an hour per client per payroll run.

“Both IRIS Payroll for Accountants and IRIS Remote Payroll Entry work very well together. IRIS Payroll for Accountants suits us and our needs to help us meet our payroll challenges.”

Recommendations

Dominic told us that he would indeed recommend IRIS and IRIS Remote Payroll Entry. He explained “IRIS Remote Payroll Entry helps us with the accuracy of our data and stops the need to re-enter data at a later date.

“IRIS offer what I consider to be the best user interface when using their software, IRIS are good on the update side of things when legislation is changed or new legislation is announced, and IRIS host regular and informative events such as IRIS World. It’s because of this that I would most definitely recommend IRIS.”
