Solution

IRIS Hosting

Jeremy Batchelor runs an accountancy firm based in Cullompton, Devon, joined IRIS Hosting in 2013.

Modern and reliable backups

Martin says: "Our office server, running on Microsoft SBS, at five years old was at the end of its useful life, which prompted the decision as to whether to replace, with the prospect of having to do so yet again in another five years, or go down the hosting route."

By moving to a cloud based solution the practice then had modern, reliable, and secure regular backups.

How did the move to hosting turn out?
Jeremy says: "We were initially anxious as to how well it would work, and it really does work so well, fast and trouble-free."

Time and money savings

Jeremy explained the hosted solution has had many benefits for Batchelor & Co, saving time and money:

"Software updates are all done for us, with the Digita suite in particular being previously very time consuming. Also, we no longer have any capital outlay on a new server."

Why did you seek a specialist in accountancy software?

Jeremy says, particularly for reasons of having relevant experience and customer support:
"We felt it was important to use a company with the specialist knowledge of accountancy and tax software and modes of operation, rather than just a generic hosting company."
